- ❖ SIMS School offering hands-on experience

Target Audience and Aim of the Conference

The SIMS Europe conference will cover fundamental aspects of Secondary Ion Mass Spectrometry (SIMS) as well as the wide variety of SIMS applications starting from electronic devices to bioanalysis. Our goal is to bring together students at different levels and established analytical scientists from academia and industry. We will therefore try to keep the students' participation fees as low as possible. Two extended poster sessions will give students the opportunity to present and discuss their results.
